

Instant, confidential communication for your clinic.

The Omninote instant message system improves clinic communication with private printed messages.

Omninote lets you send and receive printed messages to and from everyone on your staff at the push of a button, without wasting time on the phone or chasing people down. It instantly links everyone so communication is faster, more accurate, and more effective.

Omninote printed messages announce patient arrival silently and efficiently. Omninote speeds patient flow, streamlines appointment scheduling, and speeds transfer of urgent phone messages to the right person.

Because Omninote prints an easy-to-read message, vital data (such as patient names, file numbers and prescription details) are accurately transmitted, and verbal errors are reduced. Every message shows the data and time.

Omninote frees up nurses for patient care, speeds patient care and streamlines scheduling by instantly delivery critical information, in writing.
